

SEPARABLE PHRASAL VERBS

Transitive phrasal verbs need an object, and they can be separable or inseparable. When a phrasal verb is separable, we can use either verb + particle + object or verb + object + particle.

- You need to put on your jacket. ✓
- You need to put your jacket on. ✓
- I took off my shoes. ✓
- I took my shoes off. ✓

We can also replace the object with a pronoun, but then the object MUST go between the verb and the particle.

- You need to put it on. ✓
- You need to put on it. ✗
- I took them off. ✓
- I took off them. ✗

Reference:

Test-English (s.f.). Phrasal verbs: transitive and intransitive, separable and inseparable. Retrieved from:

<https://test-english.com/explanation/a2/phrasal-verbs-transitive-and-intransitive-separable-and-inseparable/>